- MiTur and ENIT have initiated the public consultation process of the "Guidelines on Technical Interoperability and API Management" (hereinafter also just "TDH022 Guidelines");
- the MiTur and ENIT have in parallel involved, through different accession procedure, the Regions, Autonomous Provinces and other territorial public bodies and Central Public Administrations, for collaboration and cooperation in the Tourism Digital Hub;
- the MiTur and ENIT, in the exercise of their institutional competencies, do not in any case play the role of economic operator and/or intermediary and operate exclusively for the purposes of public interest within their competence;
- the MiTur and ENIT intend, therefore, to promote forms of collaboration and cooperation with all entities-both public and private-interested in the same goals and objectives;
- this procedure does not determine any conditions of favor, priority, exclusivity or competitive advantage for the benefit of any public and/or private entity, membership in the initiative being totally free and open, in compliance with the requirements set out in the dedicated paragraph and aimed, as a priority, at promoting the Italian tourism system as a whole;

TAKES NOTICE THAT

This notice is intended to collect memberships, from private entities and economic operators, for participation in the "Tourism Digital Hub" project, which is better described below.

Art. 1 - Purpose of the notice

The purpose of this notice is to collect memberships, on an equal basis, from private entities and economic operators operating in the restaurant sector and/or related search and reservation services, as defined below, interested in participating in the Tourism Digital Hub initiative (hereinafter also just "TDH"), as Partners (hereinafter also "Adherents") who, by sharing content and data with MiTur and ENIT through special APIs, feed the italia.it portal with content related to their offerings.

The TDH ecosystem is a platform of content and services to profitably match tourist demand to Italy with the relevant Italian supply, linking the following elements: person (tourist), content (from which to infer the person's interest), destinations and supply (hotel; gastronomy, etc.).

Public notice for participation in the "Tourism Digital Hub" project by entities operating in the restaurant industry and/or related search and reservation services

The visibility of content on the portal does not meet criteria of exclusivity or priority in favor of any Partner. The manner in which content is published and the visibility accorded to it is guaranteed equally to all Members.

The TDH interoperability application platform is owned by MiTur, which takes care of its management and evolution. The TDH application platform is equipped with its own technological infrastructure (API Gateway, CMS, DAM, DMS) with which adhering operators will have to interconnect by equipping themselves in turn with a technological infrastructure that allows them to exchange/receive information and content, using an encrypted, authenticated and authorized mode in the manner and according to the TDH022 Guidelines.

The Adherent, therefore, for the purpose of implementing interoperability with the Tourism Digital Hub, is required to equip itself with an interoperable platform that enables the APIs to be managed (invoke/expose) and gives the ability to consult and monitor them by ensuring their operational management as outlined in paragraphs 4.1 and 4.2 of the Interoperability Guidelines (TDH022).

Specifically, through TDH membership each Member will be able to take advantage of the available APIs listed below:

1. Put Destination
2. Delete Destination
3. Put Menu
4. Delete Menu

By means of the APIs just mentioned then, the Catering operator attested to the Tourism Digital Hub (TDH) will be able to export information/content about their business and/or delete it (Put/Delete Destination) as well as export offered menus and/or delete them (Put/Delete Menu).

In addition, for the purpose of interconnection with TDH, Catering Partners will be required to exhibit, as a priority, at least the following APIs:

1. Dedicated API to check the availability of tables within the individual facility (e.g., get Availability)
2. Dedicated API to enable reservation of the previously searched table (i.e. put Reservation).
3. API dedicated to return data inherent to reservations from italia.it (e.g. get Reservation: Confirmed / Deleted / Modified / Enjoyed)

Alternatively, the partner will have to guarantee the availability of a widget, which can be integrated on the italia.it website, enabling the activation of the availability check and table reservation. The partner will also have to guarantee the return of booking data according to the examples given in point 3 of the list above.

Regardless of the integration mode activated, the booking process, therefore, will be finalized through the italia.it website, while any aspect related to the subsequent management of the booking, including but not limited to any modification or cancellation thereof, takes place on the Member's portal, relying on services solutions, tools and functionalities already in the availability of the Member.

Public notice for participation in the "Tourism Digital Hub" project by entities operating in the restaurant industry and/or related search and reservation services

Joining the TDH ecosystem will therefore allow the mutual exchange of content and data, not only provided by means of APIs by the Adherents, but also possibly enriched with browsing data collected during the user-experience on the italia.it portal, in the cases and in the manner allowed by EU Reg. 679/2016 (GDPR). Subsequently, therefore, the acquisition by TDH and/or the italia.it portal of specific categories of aggregated digital data may be made available and/or searchable to the relevant Adherents through reporting systems made available by MiTur. The interoperability of return data is therefore also an opportunity for each of the Adherents to increase their information set and optimize their customized tourism offerings.

Art. 2 - Eligible subjects and subjective requirements

All individuals and private economic operators, in whatever legal form they are constituted, operating in the catering sector and/or related search and reservation services for catering facilities located in Italy that manage reservations in digitized mode are eligible to participate.

The ascertainment of the non-existence of even one of the aforementioned requirements may constitute cause for the non-admission of the Adherent or, following the signing of the Adhesion Agreement, cause for its revocation.

ART. 2 - Aims and Objectives

1. This agreement regulates the rights of the Parties in relation to membership in the TDH ecosystem, as well as how to use the APIs on the portal. The TDH ecosystem is a content and services platform to profitably match tourist demand to Italy with the relevant Italian supply, connecting the following elements: person (tourist), content (from which to infer the person's interest), destinations and supply. The TDH ecosystem guarantees, through APIs, the interchange of tourism data and content, enriching the italia.it website and all related digital channels (mobile APP, Social Media, etc.), with new content and services produced, produced internally and in collaboration with the Regions, Autonomous Provinces and public entities, but also through integrations with private partners.
2. The booking process, therefore, will be finalized through the italia.it website, while any aspect related to the subsequent management of the booking, including but not limited to any possible modification or cancellation of the same, will take place on the Member's portal, relying on services solutions, tools and functionalities already in the availability of the Member.
3. Joining the TDH ecosystem, which is implemented through the exchange of content and data, is therefore also an opportunity for the Adherent to increase the information set and optimize its personalized tourism offer. The TDH interoperability application platform is owned by MiTur, which is responsible for its management and evolution. The TDH application platform is equipped with its own technological infrastructure (API Gateway, CMS, DAM, DMS) with which the adhering operators (Regions, Entities, Third Parties) will have to interconnect by equipping themselves in turn with a technological infrastructure that allows them to exchange/receive information and content, using an encrypted, authenticated and authorized mode.
4. Specifically, through TDH membership each member will be able to take advantage of the APIs available on the TDH Ecosystem for the transfer or acquisition of data and content, according to the specifications outlined in the Interoperability Guidelines (TDH022) and its annexes.

ART. 3 - Economic burdens

1. Participation in the TDH under this Agreement is on a voluntary basis and does not generate any direct remuneration for the Parties involved. There are no financial charges to be borne by the Parties, nor are there any fees and/or reimbursement of expenses to be paid by one Party and borne by the other, due to the purpose of cooperation between the Parties themselves that is the subject of this Agreement.
2. Each Party, therefore, bears its own costs, direct and indirect, none excluded, for participating in the TDH and providing and/or enjoying the E-services.

ART. 4 - Contact persons

1. Each Party shall designate a Contact Person for this Agreement. The Contact Person shall be responsible for representing the Party that designated him or her for the executive activities
